P.G. farmers market relocation moves forward.

Pagrovians may soon find their organic apples and fresh-cut flowers in a new location.

In response to the P.G. City Council's May 19 vote, Everyone's Harvest farmers market has requested a use permit amendment to relocate from its current Monday night digs, on Lighthouse Avenue from Forest Avenue to 17th Street, to Central and Grand avenues.

The market board also asks the city to allow non-certified vendors (who sell mostly prepared foods and crafts) from outside the city of P.G. Existing rules only allow city residents to run the booths, but applicants have been scarce.

The P.G. Planning Commission is expected to hold a public hearing and consider the long-debated market move June 3.
